To Whom It May Concern:

This is to recommend Joey Stuckey as a wonderful and inspirational speaker and musician. He recently gave the closing speech and performance at an international conference on the lives of visually impaired musicians at the University College London's Institute of Education <<http://vimusicians.ioe.ac.uk/index.html>>. He brought the house down and left the delegates with a sense of pride and fulfilment.

Not only this but Joey was a terrific influence throughout the conference, giving support to other presenters from across a range of musical styles, and different experiences, as well as many countries.

We were proud to have him as our closing speaker, and wish him the very best for the further continuation of his work.

Yours faithfully,

Lucy Green.
